Two of 5 feet found in B.C. from same man

DNA Two of five disarticulated feet found on the shores of Southwest B.C. belonged to the same man and one of the found feet belonged to a woman, police in Vancouver said yesterday.

The B.C. Coroners Service used DNA analysis to confirm the foot found Feb. 8 on Valdes Island and the foot found June 16 on Westham Island — on opposite sides of Georgia Strait — were from the same unidentified man.

Also, the fourth foot, found May 22 on Kirkham Island in the Fraser River, belonged to a woman.

RCMP, Delta Police and the B.C. Coroners Service unveiled part of their investigation yesterday into the five feet, still in sneakers, that have washed up on B.C. shores in less than a year. METRO VANCOUVER

'Bandit' taxi hit with fines

Convicted illegal operator owes over $56,000

TIM WIECLAWSKI
tim.wieclawski@metronews.ca

The city has hit an Ottawa man with the largest fines ever levied against a so-called "bandit cab" operation.

Joseph Herchawi, the operator of Dynesty Services, now owes $56,250 after being convicted and fined $9,000 on each of five separate charges of operating a taxi dispatching service without a licence. The fines include victim surcharges.

The city charged Herchawi following a five-month investigation, according to Susan Jones, director of bylaw services.

"We took our time and made sure we had significant enough evidence to be able to get a fine as high as this one on this individual," Jones said yesterday.

Unlicensed, or "bandit" cabs, pose safety risks and rob legitimate taxi operators of up to $2 million worth of business annually, according to Jones.

The difficulty with foiling the underground industry is that the drivers change frequently and the companies shut down immediately once charges are laid, only to resurface under a new name.

"In order to charge them we have to get to the source of the problem, which is the dispatcher," Jones said.

Yusef Al Mezel, the president of CAW Local 1688 representing most city taxi drivers, lauded yesterday's move, but said the punishment should have included suspension of the driver's licence and confiscation of the vehicle.

Asked and answered

Director of bylaw services Susan Jones said Ottawa has asked the province for authority to suspend licences and seize vehicles from illegal operators, but was refused.

Bandit cabs are serious problems that, because they are unregulated, pose safety risks to their clients, said Al Mezel, adding the vehicles are not certified safe and some operators do not have insurance or even a driver's licence.

"The message we have for people is don't use illegal cabs," he said. "You don't know who they are. If something bad happens, there is no place to complain."

Al Mezel estimates up to 150 rogue taxis are operating in Ottawa.

Glasses linked to murder scene

TRACEY TONG
tracey.tong@metronews.ca

A pair of glasses found at the scene of a murder may hold the key to solving the five-week old homicide of Ottawa resident Pamela Kosmack.

Police yesterday released a photo of the glasses and asked the public's help in identifying the person who may have worn, owned or misplaced a pair of brown, oval-framed glasses in the area of Lincoln Heights Park.

"The glasses were found at the crime scene and investigators are looking to identify the owner ... as a part of the investigation," said Ottawa Police Const. J.P. Vincelette. "It's one of the avenues that's being investigated."

Police would not say if they think the glasses belonged to the murderer, but Vincelette said they were found at the scene when investigators were scouring the area.

"The glasses were found at the crime scene and investigators are looking to identify the owner."

On the evening of June 4, the badly beaten body of Kosmack, 39, was found near a bicycle path in Lincoln Heights Park. The incident was Ottawa's fourth homicide of 2008. Police have received 51 tips into the case so far.

The glasses are described as brown-framed Foster Grant reading glasses.

Police said the owner of the glasses is likely someone who is 40 years or older.

Report card-toting activists turned away from ministry office

tim.wieclawski@metronews.ca

"We are in a complete crisis."

Social housing resident Kat Fortin points to the seven-year average waiting list for subsidized housing in Ottawa as evidence of a problem that's out of control.

She and other affordable housing advocates rallied yesterday in the capital, one of three events organized across the country by the community activist group ACORN, to give the federal government a failing grade on a housing "report card."

Fortin said the federal government has abandoned all responsibility for housing to provinces and

"Every other country in the world has a national housing strategy."

Coun. Diane Holmes

municipalities.

"We only dedicate five per cent of housing stock to social housing. (In) European countries it's 13 per cent, some are up to 35 per cent," said Fortin.

Demonstrators tried to present a "straight-Fs" report card to Human Resources and Social Development Minister Monte Solberg yesterday, but were turned away by security at the ministry's offices in Gatineau.

The group is demanding the feds develop and fund a national housing strategy.

Coun. Diane Holmes, chair of Ottawa Community Housing, said local waiting lists that top 10,000 people won't be fixed without help from higher government.

"We need the federal government to get back into social housing like they were years ago. Every other country in the world has a national housing strategy except Canada."

Ottawa Centre MP Paul Dewar criticized the government for handing out $50 billion in corporate tax breaks while people languish on housing waiting lists.

"Some of these houses are in such a condition that it is deplorable."

Alexander Bandula, 7, carries pictures outlining the poor condition of the housing unit where he lives.

Volleyball tourney may be best yet

HOPE Local volleyball players will bump up fundraising efforts for six area charities when HOPE Volleyball Summerfest kicks off at Mooney's Bay Beach tomorrow.

Depending on weather, up to 35,000 people are expected, including 10,000 volleyball players and 1,300 volunteers.

Executive director Eugenie Dore expects that the festival's 26th year will bring more spectators out and more funds in than before.

Over the years, participants have collected over $3.5 million in support of more than 100 local charities.

Dore declined to reveal the total raised last year, but said each of the benefiting charities got the funds they requested.

The team sign up was sold out long before the deadline, Dore said.

Dore said the event is popular because of the "beautiful" site, the charitable causes that benefit and, of course, the volleyball.

This year's charities include: the city and area branches of the Canadian Diabetes Association, the Kidney Foundation of Canada, the Ottawa-Carleton Association for Persons with Developmental Disabilities, the Ottawa Deaf Centre, the Ottawa Food Bank and the Royal Ottawa Foundation for Mental Health.

The Rogers Amphitheatre returns for the second year with Thornley, 54-40 and Loudlove as entertainment headliners.

Blossom Park fire thought to be arson

SUSPICIOUS Investigators say a fire that destroyed a vacant house in Gloucester early yesterday could be arson.

"We're trying to keep an open mind as we do the investigation, but we haven't ruled out arson," said acting district chief Bob Foster.

When police, firefighters and paramedics arrived at 2:27 a.m., the two-storey, single-family home on Alderwood Crescent was already engulfed in flames, said Foster.

"The fire was coming out of all the openings."

The Blossom Park-area house had been vacant for several weeks after the family had moved out, Foster said.

Nine trucks and 29 firefighters brought the fire under control by 3:38 a.m. There were no injuries as a result, but the fire destroyed the house and caused an estimated $250,000 in damages.

Although firefighters believe the fire started on the first floor, the cause of the blaze is now under investigation.

office tower workers to homeless people, gathered at Mackenzie King Bridge yesterday to fondly remember Hamel, a homeless man who was a friendly downtown fixture for a decade.

Hamel panhandled at the corner of O'Connor and Albert streets with his dog, Muff, and was described as "cheerful," "positive," and someone who "had a smile for everyone." He died in hospital Friday at age 51 after suffering a heart attack on Canada Day.

Many wept as they shared stories and dropped off bouquets of flowers, cigarettes, money, candles, letters, prayers and poems.

"I'd known Andre for many years," said Rhonda Billard, who works at a downtown law firm. She always worried whenever he was missing from his corner.

"I don't think he realized how much he meant to so many people," she said, wiping away tears.

"He was a good friend," said Guy Vaillant, who was hosting Hamel at his home when he suffered the heart attack.

Hamel was from Magog, Quebec and had two children.

"He was my best friend in the whole world," said Darryl Dempsey, who is now caring for Hamel's dog.

Hamel would want people to treat each other with kindness, no matter what their circumstance, said Sheryl MacDonald.

"He was approachable, and so was everyone else. Don't back away."

News in brief

THEFT Police seek a teenaged suspect following the robbery of a Gatineau convenience store at gunpoint late Wednesday night. At 10:15 p.m., a masked suspect entered the Joannise convenience store at 3 Joannise Road and demanded cash, Constable Isabelle Poirier said yesterday. He fled afterwards along Fournier Boulevard on a bicycle with cash and some lottery tickets. There were no injuries. The suspect is described as a white male, 16- to 17-years-old, five-foot-six tall with a thin build, weighing approximately 130 pounds. He was wearing a dark-coloured hat, a scarf over his face, sunglasses and brown pants. Anyone with information is asked to call Gatineau police at 819-243-2346.

REPORT A woman's claims that an armed man entered her apartment early yesterday morning brought out a police tactical team, but no suspect could be found. At 1:10 a.m., a 46-year-old woman reported to police that a man armed with a gun was in her apartment at Cite-des-Jeunes Boulevard in Gatineau. The investigation is ongoing and the woman is being investigated for the possibility of being under the influence of alcohol and medication.

FIRE Fire destroyed a garage and parts of the attic of a bungalow in Richmond, yesterday afternoon. Firefighters were called to 124 Martin St. at 1:45 p.m. and the blaze was under control by 3 p.m. Around 40 firefighters in 12 vehicles responded to the blaze. The fire started in the garage then spread to the attic. The three residents of the house made it out without injury and the fire was contained before it could damage the living area. Martin Street was reopened to traffic around 4 p.m. An estimate of the cost of damages was not yet available.

ENVIRONMENT Many residents who live near a dump in Cantley, north of Gatineau, were celebrating yesterday after the owners of the landfill lost an appeal to reopen it. Mayor Steve Harris recently asked the Quebec government to take over responsibility for monitoring the site — where a fire in 2005 led to the evacuation of 69 nearby homes — for toxic gas emissions. The Quebec government closed the dump due to alleged environmental violations in October 2007. Harris said the landowners have not been sending the Environment Ministry gas readings that are required to adequately monitor the risk to human health.

A program for nearly all other electronics, including telephones, cameras and stereo equipment, will be put forward for approval a year from now.

Bonds close to MLB return

Contending team likely to take a chance on troubled home run king

YorkReport

Marty York

marty.york@metronews.ca

Like it or not, Barry Bonds probably will return to the major leagues after next week's all-star break.

Bonds has been working out daily and is poised to join a contender. Clubs have resisted temptations to sign the home-run king this season, partly because of his age (he'll be 44 this month) and largely because of his off-field problems (steroid allegations), but MLB sources tell Metro the general mindset is changing.

"Bonds can make the difference to a team aiming to win a championship," an AL general manager said. "In the first half, no one wanted to touch him because of the circus that would come along with him. But, now, the pros on signing Bonds would likely outweigh the cons for a team in a pennant race."

Most likely team for Bonds: The Arizona Diamondbacks, who have lost outfielder Eric Byrnes for the season because of a hamstring injury.

• Before they obtained pitcher C.C. Sabathia from the Cleveland Indians the other day, the Brewers rejected a trade proposal

"The pros on signing (Barry) Bonds would likely outweigh the cons for a team in a pennant race."

Unnamed AL general manager

from the Blue Jays that would have sent pitcher A.J. Burnett to Milwaukee for shortstop J.J. Hardy ... (What's with all the initials?) ... The Philadelphia Phillies are hunting for a pitcher and covet Burnett and Ontarian Erik Bedard of the Seattle Mariners ... The Tampa Bay Rays, determined to prove their first-place status in the AL East is no fluke, hope to bolster their roster by acquiring both outfielder Matt Holliday and relief pitcher Brian Fuentes from the Colorado Rockies.

• And, speaking of major trade possibilities, there's a blockbuster brewing in the NBA, too.

The Detroit Pistons, we hear, are making a big pitch to the Houston Rockets for perennial all-star Tracy McGrady.

• So both Shaun Marcum and Dustin McGowan are out now with injuries to their throwing arms, and you can't help but wonder about those mouth guards and necklaces they've been wearing on the mound all season.

Both of the Jays' young pitchers have insisted that these mouth guards and necklaces were being worn for health reasons, not as fashion statements.

"They're more circulation devices for general health," said Bart Given, the Jays' assistant general manager. "I don't think you can say these devices were supposed to prevent them from getting arm injuries."

First time in history men's water polo team has qualified for Games

KRISTA SYLVESTER
Metro Canada

Once the absent underdogs of the sport, the Canadian men's water polo team is looking to make a big splash at the Olympics in Beijing.

The 2008 Beijing Olympics will mark the first time in history the Canadian men's team has qualified to represent the nation in the water sport, although Canada was a last-minute invitation to the 1984 Olympics after Moscow boycotted.

"We have already made history by qualifying for the Olympics, so there isn't a lot of added pressure on us," head coach Dragon Jovanovic tells Metro. "We will go and do our best and prove to the world we deserve to be there."

Jovanovic, a former water polo goaltender from the former Yugoslavia, was hired by Water Polo Canada to coach the team four years ago.

"They are a great bunch of guys, they are very committed and they really work well together. We're hitting our toughest training yet," he said.

There are currently 17 players fighting for 13 positions for the Olympics, and the final team won't be decided until right before the Games, according to the coach.

The players range in age from 18-29, and hail from across Canada, calling Calgary their training headquarters because of the "state of the art" Talisman

Centre where they practise. "Even if they miss their homes, they want to play water polo and this is their home now," Jovanovic said.

Calgary Mount Royal College student Kevin Mitchell, 26, told Metro he is excited to take part in the Olympic experience, one he calls a "dream come true."

"It's amazing. I really can't wait to live the whole Olympic experience, it's something you imagine but can't believe it's happening," he said.

Mitchell recalled the "adrenaline rush" of beating home team Romania at the Olympic qualifier tournament this year.

"It was probably the best feeling of my life after putting seven years into this and to make it now, especially as underdogs, is exhilarating," he says. "We did what others thought we couldn't."

The team just returned from a month-long trip to Europe, where they beat Italy and Greece, and coach Jovanovic said they looked in fine form.

"The challenge now is we don't have any matches in July, so we just have to continue to train hard," he said. "These guys are working hard though, and we have a plan in place to be recognized as a serious contender in the upcoming years."

History of the water polo team

1972: Canada was invited to compete in Munich after one of the qualified countries declined.

1976: Canada earned an automatic berth for being the host country.

1980: Canada boycotted the Moscow Games.

1984: Moscow then boycotted the '84 Games in Los Angeles and Canada received the last-minute invitation.

2004: Canada failed to qualify for the Olympics in Athens and coach Dragon Jovanovic was hired.

2008: Canada beats host team Romania to advance to the Olympics in Beijing.

End of the iPod?

SoundCheck

Alan

alan@ongoinghistory.com

As you read this, a small but significant portion of the planet's population has already given up a chunk of their lives to be among the first to own a new 3G iPhone. I've been reading stories about people camped out in front of stores waiting for this moment. Good for them.

And I get it. The new iPhone is another step closer to having a computer in your pocket. If you spent big coin to buy an American iPhone and went through the hassle of jail-breaking it so it would work in Canada, you now own the equivalent of an iPod released in October 2001.

Which brings me to the iPod. Next to the DVD player and the original transistor radio, it's the most successful electronic entertainment device we've ever seen. Somewhere around 200 million have been sold. A survey released this week by researchers Youthography shows that almost two-thirds of Canadians age 14-34 own an iPod. But according to that same Youthography survey, 20 per cent of all young people in Canada already own cellphones with built-in MP3 players — and that number is increasing every day. It's to the point where some people have begun to ask how much longer we'll want to buy standalone MP3 players.

The new iPhone, right, brings us a step closer to having a computer in our pockets, but will it replace the iPod, left?

Even Apple knows that the future belongs to an all-in-one handheld device — a Tricorder-like machine that offers communication, entertainment and instant information on just about anything. Research In Motion knows this, too, which is why they've been working hard on some very cool models, including the rumoured touchscreen-ed BlackBerry Thunder and the semi-mythical Kickstart, RIM's first clamshell device. Meanwhile, HTC, Samsung, LG and Nokia are all R&Ding their brains out to catch up to Apple. Steve Jobs is still ahead of the curve, but others are catching up.

I'm sure that Apple and other music player manufacturers will insist that not everyone needs anything more than a simple music player. And they're right. If all you want to do is slog it out on a treadmill at the gym, you don't need to strap a computer to your bicep.

But that's not the point. If manufacturers can get us to keep upgrading, and if the wireless companies can sell us long contracts with expensive data plans, don't you think they'd happily throw the basic MP3 player over the side? Could we be near the end of the iPod era? Just asking.

Matt Mays and El Torpedo

Album: Terminal Romance

Label: Sonic/Warner

Release date: July 8

Grade: B+

ON HIS FOURTH album, Matt Mays continues to wear his Tom Petty/Bob Dylan/Crazy Horse influences on his sleeve. And he wears it well. This is Mays' most complete (and slickest) album by far. Hopefully it will elevate him to the top of Canada's guitar-rock heap. The anthemic title track and the first single, Tall Trees, prove the gritty Halifax rocker's move to New York City has served him well.

Beck

Album: Modern Guilt

Label: Interscope/Universal

Release date: July 8

Grade: B+

WHETHER YOU LIKE Beck Hanson or not, you have to give credit to the musician for trying something new on every album. On his 10th record, Beck teams up with Gnarls Barkley's Danger Mouse to create dark, soulful, electro-tinged sounds. It's refreshing in that it's a place Beck hasn't been before, but some songs, including the title, track sound a little close to "Crazy" for comfort. Still, there are many memorable tracks, and a Beck record is always worth having, but it's not as brilliant as some of Hanson's other work.

Hellboy's golden sequel

RICK MCGINNIS

Hellboy II: The Golden Army

Director: Guillermo del Toro
Stars: Ron Perlman, Selma Blair, Jeffrey Tambor
Classification: 14A
Rating: ●●●●●

REVIEW It always feels like something is missing in films based on comic books, something essential whose absence is only barely disguised by action and spectacle and, when the screenwriter is so moved, some sudden stretch of dialogue meant to tease out a dramatic or comic thread with a conspicuous disregard for pacing. Just before the climactic battle in Guillermo del Toro's Hellboy sequel, we're reminded of a prophetic plot point from the first film that both sets up Hellboy III — or IV or V — and utterly deflates the conflict-to-come by underlining the likelihood the hero will survive to fight another day.

This dramatic aphasia overcomes nearly every comic book film, replacing tension with ritual as the protagonist is battered by a gauntlet of villains who, no matter their awesome power and unmitigated evil, are reduced to some CGI-assisted incarnation of the Indians who can't shoot straight in some western serial.

It's clear del Toro really doesn't have his eye on the story as much as the regular intervals when he can introduce some scene packed with striking beasties or a digitally created behemoth, at which point the camera steps back to marvel at the handiwork. It's no surprise that the significant departure from tone and plot — a scene involving Ron Perlman's title character, his best friend Abe Sapien, many six-packs of Tecate beer and a Barry Manilow song — seems to lift off from the overdesigned business of the film with an affected giddiness that the preview audience, at least, gratefully appreciated.

A Journey back to the third dimension

rick.mcginis@metronews.ca

Journey To The Center Of The Earth

Director: Eric Brevig
Stars: Brendan Fraser
Classification: PG
Rating: ●●●●●

REVIEW I can thank SCTV for ruining my appreciation of 3-D movies forever, thanks to the classic sketch Dr. Tongue's House Of Stewardesses, which made sport of the cheapie 3-D flicks from the '50s that used to showed up on late night TV, their 3-D effects reduced to little more than swords and sticks being jabbed at the camera by actors ordered to break the "fourth wall" and gesture directly into the lens.

John Candy and Eugene Levy leering at the camera was never far from my mind while watching Brendan Fraser in Journey To The Center Of The Earth, which features, among other exercises of the medium, a thick glob of dinosaur drool launching from the screen and into your eye. An updating of the classic Jules Verne tale for the green screen age, it's been given the full-on 3-D treatment by director Eric Brevig with an unrestrained enthusiasm for the film's primary technical parlour trick.

After three Mummy films, Brendan Fraser is an old hand at this sort of outlandish action flick, a sort of contemporary Victor Mature who hopefully has the potential to be as self-mocking. He manfully delivers the bulk of the film's dubious science with a straight face, which is as it should be. While you don't want to think too much about what Journey has to say about plate tectonics or zoology, its hurtling pace and unabashed enthusiasm for every unlikely new peril is the best thing about the film.

Meet Dave is one meeting you want to avoid

for Metro Canada

Meet Dave

Director: Brian Robbins
Stars: Eddie Murphy
Classification: PG
Rating: ●●●●●

REVIEW Like most people, I miss the Eddie Murphy of yesterday.

The smart-alecky, foulmouthed Beverly Hills Cop Murphy whose career has since (somehow) primarily become a vehicle for entertaining prepubescents with over-the-top schtick. Talk about fallin' for a banana in the tailpipe!

At the outset of Meet Dave, Murphy seemingly follows suit, playing both a human-shaped spaceship named Dave and the tiny alien Captain controlling his every move from inside.

On a quest to find a mysterious orb that crashed to Earth, Dave (and subsequently, the Captain) meet a kindly family and learn the obligatory true lesson of friendship.

It's actually a fairly multi-layered plot and definitely an improvement on the comedian's recent offerings (Norbit anyone?). Murphy's talents are best showcased when he's playing the inanimate spaceship (who can sharpen pencils in his nose and excrete money when he needs it by the way).

It's a tricky role and Murphy pulls off a glazed-over look rivaled only by the look on younger audience members' faces when a punchline makes reference to the singer Meat Loaf.

Nonetheless, soon we meet the crew within Dave, the annoying characters (a rugged officer who discovers Broadway and becomes a flaming homosexual) arise and the gags begin to fall flat.

Along with special effects that are simply sloppy in the golden age of CGI and a promising start ends up uneven.

Mainly however, I just couldn't help but wonder how much better Meet Dave might've been if geared towards a more mature audience.

Definitely an improvement for Murphy but it still seems like he's mailing it in.

Sorry Eddie, but I won't fall for a banana in the tailpipe.

Films live on through consoles

Players controlling stars of summer blockbusters long beyond the two-hour movie

Disney/Pixar's newest computer-generated blockbuster, WALL-E, has been developed into a game by Heavy Iron Studios.

Summer blockbuster movies no longer end with the closing credits with rising numbers of licensed video games being spun off from Hollywood adventures, putting the gamer in the starring role.

John Taylor, video game analyst for Arcadia Research, said this summer features a dozen Hollywood-licensed games, up from nine last year. "As we saw last year with both Activision's Spider-Man 3 and Transformers games, consumers bought these titles throughout the summer and into the busy holiday shopping season, which is one of the advantages of acquiring a Hollywood license," said Taylor.

Disney/Pixar's newest computer-generated blockbuster, WALL-E, has been developed into a game by Heavy Iron Studios and published by THQ with players able to control the robot stars, WALL-E and Eve, in adventures beyond the two-hour film.

The film's production de-

Hollywood lineup

Rounding out the summer Hollywood lineup is a double feature of sorts from actor Brendan Fraser. His character, Rick O'Connell, can be found in Sierra Games' The Mummy: Tomb of the Dragon Emperor while players can control the portable exploits of Fraser's character, Trevor Anderson, in THQ's Nintendo DS adaptation of New Line Cinema's Journey to the Center of the Earth 3-D.

signer, Ralph Eggleston, said he's watched as the collaboration between game makers and Pixar filmmakers has evolved over the years.

"I've seen games catching up with us," said Eggleston. "The one thing about rendering as it becomes better and the faster is that the images in games get better and it allows game makers to really start to involve more complex characters in games and interplay with them." Activision and developer Luxoflux Corp. have brought DreamWorks' Kung Fu Panda to all gaming platforms.

There are 13 levels of gameplay that allow players to work together or take control of Po the Panda, his teacher Shifu, and the legendary kung fu masters, the Furious Five, to take matters into their own hands.

Comic book fans get a double dose of Hellboy this summer from Oscar-winning director Guillermo del Toro.

In addition to his new movie, Hellboy II: The Golden Army from Universal Pictures, del Toro collaborated with Hellboy comic creator Mike Mignola and Konami Digital Entertainment on the new Hellboy: Science of Evil game for Xbox 360, PlayStation 3 and PSP.

"If you go and play the game you'll find it's a world that complements the comics and the movie, but it's its own universe," said del Toro. "It has really great creatures and great gameplay." Comic books make easy tie-ins for films and games, which has resulted in a pair of interactive Marvel adventures from Sega that are now available on all platforms.

Iron Man and The Incredible Hulk both feature central actors from the big screen action, including Robert Downey Jr., Terrence Howard, Edward Norton and Liv Ullmann.

Fans will have to wait for actor Matt Damon to reprise his role as amnesiac assassin Jason Bourne in the fourth big-screen outing, but a new adventure is now playing on an Xbox 360 or PS3.

Sierra Games and developer High Moon Studios worked with Bourne screenwriter Tony Gilroy and the Robert Ludlum Estate to bring The Bourne Conspiracy to gamers.

This puts players in the role of Bourne, minus any involvement from Damon, and intersperses key action elements from The Bourne Identity with new pre-amnesia flashback missions.

Bale's Batman begins again

Actor talks about his inspiration for the role, working with Heath Ledger in Dark Knight

rick.mcginis@metronews.ca

FEATURE Christian Bale is that rare movie star about which we know almost nothing. With The Dark Knight opening in a week, he might be on the verge of the biggest movie of his career so far, but sitting across from the actor at a press event in Beverly Hills, it's impossible to imagine that it's going to change what he does or how he does it; averaging two films a year in what tend to be physically demanding roles, with three more films including a new Terminator movie in production, it's likely he'll just return to some set, away from the gossip mags.

Talking about his second shot at portraying Bruce Wayne and his alter ego, the Batman, in director Christopher Nolan's stygian reboot of the comic movie franchise, Bale is as thorough as any movie critic when he talks

"I was getting real pleasure from seeing the satisfaction he was getting from it, because I could recognize the same satisfaction that I get from acting. When you have anybody who was as good as him, it becomes that much easier to create great scenes."

Christian Bale on working with Heath Ledger about his inspiration and process in creating the role.

"He has this great shadow side borne of the pain and death of his parents," Bale says of the caped crusader. "His creation of Batman has never been helpful for his own life."

He has a great capability for violence, and he's given himself this one rule that he will not kill, because he sees how easily he could cross that line. The Joker is the one who's made him question his ethics more than anybody up until now, and tempting him to break his own rule, because if he breaks his own rule he can possibly prevent the deaths of many people. And in that case is it selfish to hold onto his own principles — should he break his own principles for that?"

The subject turns to Heath Ledger, whose Joker will be his penultimate movie role. Bale is full of respect for the late actor's professionalism, frequently praising him for his "commitment."

"That was our very first scene together," Bale says, referring to a brutal interrogation scene between their characters. "And it was a great way to start, because we were afforded the luxury of, for some part of the scene, being completely alone in that room with the cameras outside, with just mirrors surrounding us, and the two of us eyeballing each other, and everywhere you looked just seeing reflections of the two freaks sitting at a table together."

"Me sitting opposite him, I was getting real pleasure from seeing the satisfaction he was getting from it, because I could recognize the same satisfaction that I get from acting. When you have anybody who was as good as him, it becomes that much easier to create great scenes."

Christian Bale takes to the big screen next week in his second shot at portraying Bruce Wayne and his alter ego, the Batman, in The Dark Knight.

Producer comes out Swinging in defence

SWINGING AT SOFTBALLS:

Earlier this week, I wrote about Swingingtown, the '70s-themed primetime drama, and said that it was an ABC show, after watching three consecutive episodes I'd downloaded, all with CBS' eye logo watermarked in the bottom right corner.

A reader was kind enough to write in and correct me, pointing out that the show appearing on staid, safe, elderly CBS is far more of a big deal than if it were on ABC, NBC or Fox, or any of the quality cable networks where chagrined supporters of the show think it might have thrived.

You can't help but get the impression that show producer and director Alan Poul agrees with this theory, based on a talk he gave at the Banff World Television Festival written on the Blogcritics.com web site. According to Poul, Swing-

IntelleVision

rick.mcginis@metronews.ca

town creator Mike Kelley was in the unusual position of having a network try and sell him on the idea of putting the show on their network, and not the other way around when Swingingtown was still being pitched.

"We said we're not going to sell it if they're going to turn it into a network show," Poul recalled of the negotiations with CBS network chief Nina Tassler.

"The underage daughter still has to smoke pot, the crazy neighbour lady still has to do coke, our leading lady still has to take the Quaalude and we have to want her to take the Quaalude, and they still have to have sex with their neighbours.

"If you guarantee we can do all those things on CBS, then yes, you can buy the show. She said 'you have my word.'"

Afterwards, of course, the usual network interference happened right on schedule. Since the big networks are riper targets for indecency fines from the Federal Communications Commission, they're cautious in ways that Showtime or HBO aren't, and so the network "happily" paid US$10,000 to have the leg of a stewardess digitally removed from a scene in the pilot where it's wrapped around Grant Show's swinging Tom Decker. Poul complained that the FCC's effect is like "a third world theocracy, the level of sexual puritanism."

"On Desperate Housewives or CSI, there is a level of lascivious content," Poul said, "but the person involved usually gets punished or, preferably, killed."

"We love our characters. We don't judge them. There are no negative repercussions for the behaviour they're engaging in. They find that terrifying."

And that's one of the biggest problems with Swingingtown — the producers can't do what all of us do every day of our lives: make judgments and act on them. The '70s might have felt like a moral vacuum, but the world wasn't, and without affording viewers the context to make a moral judgment about somebody's behaviour — which Poul seems to regard as Swingingtown's agenda — you're offering them the dramatic equivalent of braised celery while pretending it's Texas chili.

How do I prevent air bubbles in my nail polish once it's applied to my nails?

Excessively shaking the bottle can create air in the bottle. Instead gently roll the bottle in between your hands to mix the polish. Here are a couple of extra tips from beautybuzz.com: don't polish your nails in a draft, the blowing air can cause bubbles. Also, the more you polish over your nails, the more air you put into it. And remember to throw away old polish. E-mail your style questions to kim.elbo@metronews.ca.

watches

Watches are often overlooked at because we carry time with us on our cell phones, iPods and cameras. So what is the use of a wrist watch when we obviously don't need it? Fashion, of course, it's another accessory that can't be overlooked, especially not the ones featured here. This season big, bright and candy-coloured watches are a hit. The bigger the face the better. Also, look for a thick band to match, not like those "back in the day" Baby G-Shock watches, but more like a jeweled cuff bracelet.

accessory

Beauty Talk — Push the button and the palette literally talks you through five easy steps to the perfect smoky eye. It's complete with artistry tips and advice on what brushes to use. $46 Available at beautytalk.ca.

bags

Don't spoil your summer outfit with an overbearing bag. Instead, go for something a little inconspicuous like a small black bag. It'll hold all your main essentials so you won't have to dig deep for your cell phone or coin purse. I had a friend who bought a really cute clutch but it had the smallest storage space that only fit coins and cards. So remember to try before you buy, test out the mini bag at the store to make sure all your personals fit.

tip

Going to the beach soon? Keep your watch at home; salt water can cause corrosion to the watch. Also, extreme heat can shorten the battery life of a quartz watch.

Find out what would Audrey do

Taking a page from the enduring icon's style book

Audrey Hepburn is the anti-Britney.

Brit should pick up a copy of What Would Audrey Do?: Timeless Lessons for Living with Grace and Style by Pamela Keogh, author of Audrey Style, Jackie Style and Elvis Presley: The Man. The Life. The Legend. Audrey Style took 10 years of research, interviewing relatives and Rob Wolders, Hepburn's partner till she died in 1993 at 63 of cancer.

This is Audrey Lite, a self-help Audrey Primer like Miss Manners.

"Audrey Style, Jackie Style and Elvis were big, serious bios," says Keogh over the phone from New York. "This is looser, rowdier and fun. What could we learn from A.H.?"

To wear undergarments, for one.

That it coincided with the meltdowns of the Lohans, Richies and Hiltons was fortuitous but coincidental. "This took so long, I was writing it way before they all blew."

What Would Audrey Do? by Pamela Keogh, $24.50.

I was smitten with A.H., as are people of all demographics. She is an icon to girls and grandparents.

"The young girls know her movies. They don't know World War II," Keogh says. "They see her on screen and she seems like a nice person. She is childish and grown-up at the same time. Her honesty, beauty, vulnerability and genuine guilelessness are appealing."

A.H. is also a style icon:

"She is childish and grown-up at the same time. Her honesty, beauty, vulnerability and genuine guilelessness are appealing."

Pamela Keogh, author

white shirt, LBD, ballet flats, oversized glasses and black capri pants. She was the muse for 30 years of Hubert Givenchy. An unrepentant clothes horse, A.H. stated, pre-Sex and the City, she'd "rather have more closets than a swimming pool."

She travelled with 52 suitcases.

"That was when she was in her career prime," Keogh specifies. "At UNICEF, she travelled with two suitcases — one for Rob Wolders — with jeans and polo shirts."

She was a stick figure — size two and a 20-inch waist — but "she made non-sexy, sexy."

"It was her intelligence that was sexy. There was a depth to her, and sophistication," says Keogh. "She'd look at a guy and he'd fall over."

A.H. didn't think she was beautiful. She thought her upper arms too thin and feet (size 10) too big.

She was born in Brussels in 1929. Her mother, a Dutch baroness, wasn't exactly a morale booster: "Considering that you have no talent, it's really extraordinary where you've got."

"That was a 'wow,'" Keogh admits. "Audrey said, 'My mother didn't mean anything,' but it was a double-edged sword. I didn't want people to think she is a princess and was perfect. No matter what the challenge she went through, she kept up to give other women a bit of confidence and hang in there."

Going Out

GBS to headline Bluesfest tonight

KIM MANNIX VERMETTE
kim.mannixvermette@metronews.ca

In the last 15 years the men of Great Big Sea have toured Canada countless times, playing to fans in the smallest of pubs and the biggest of stadiums.

Their catchy hits can inspire even steadfast wallflowers to take the dance floor, bouncing and partying like they're at a lively kitchen caleigh.

So you might expect a "been there, done that" attitude from founding members Alan Doyle, Bob Hallett and Sean McCann when it comes to talking about the recent release of their tenth album, Fortune's Favour. But you'd be met instead with excitement and modesty.

"All this attention, it's making me feel like a rockstar," laughs Doyle, in the midst of touring and a hectic schedule of press interviews.

"When you put out a record you want everyone to know about it, and it's always exciting for us when people are paying attention."

And this time the Newfoundland folk-popsters wanted to make a great album — not just a collection of singles.

"We wanted to make the kind of album that would read like a book from beginning to end. A real classic and creative collection of songs was the goal we set for ourselves," explains Hallett.

To break away from the standard, albeit successful, mould they'd used for years in the studio, the band enlisted the help of musician and producer

Hawksley Workman. Hallett and Doyle say that the business of being a band had taken away from the spontaneity of making music, something that Workman helped them overcome.

"With Hawksley there's no planning, no organization, no talking about it — it's just let's make music now. He's like a kid in a sandbox and that's enormously refreshing," says Hallett.

But Doyle concedes that the band's meticulous nature is also part of what's kept them working. "One of the things that's notable about us, I suppose, is that we've managed to stay a band in what is arguably the most tumultuous decade in the history of the music business," says Doyle. Hallett says the music is all at once about the business, and an escape from it.

"I think we balance the two sides — business and creativity — by always aiming to play energetically and with passion. Folk music demands precision, but we always want people to enjoy themselves too."

Great Big Sea will play the Bank of America Stage at Bluesfest tonight at 9:30 p.m. Tickets are available on site at LeBreton Flats.

Gospel Jam an inspiring complement to festival

It was a search for an interesting summer job that led Mark Gordon to walk through the doors of the downtown Bluesfest office in 1998.

The gospel musician and music director had heard that Ray Charles was in the line-up that year, and wondered if there might be a place for his choir in there.

After all, Gordon says, the blues and gospel music have always been so intertwined. The first person he ran into was festival producer/artistic director Mark Monahan, who loved the idea. Ten years later, Bluesfest continues to find a

GetOutThere

Kim Mannix Vermette

kim.mannixvermette@metronews.ca

place for gospel music, at its all-day World Gospel Jam.

"It's a real milestone that we are still doing this for a tenth anniversary, and every year it just gets bigger and better," says Gordon, who is now Bluesfest's Gospel Programming Coordinator and Community Consultant. One of the elements that make Ottawa Bluesfest unique is the large, eclectic line-up of artists. You might expect that as the festival grows, and continues to draw bigger and bigger names to the stage, that lesser-known gospel acts might get brushed aside. But Gordon says both festival organizers, and the music fans who attend the Jam year after year, know how entertaining and inspirational gospel music is. "There is an effort at the festival to make a place for everyone, in all different styles of music. Our Gospel Jam line-up is diverse too with artists singing the blues, traditional gospel, holy hip hop and soft rock," says Gordon.

"But no matter what you're going to hear it will be inspirational and positive." This year's line-up includes a return performance by rapper Prosper and his backing choir God's Plan Ministry, as well as Chicago-based artist Ricky Dillard. Sonz of Thunder, NEWWORLDSON — who Gordon refers to as the "U2 of Contemporary Christian Music — and the 11-time

Grammy winner Shirley Caesar will also be part of the Jam. Gordon says he is thrilled to have the event on the Roots stage, which is set in the picturesque natural amphitheatre behind the War Museum. He also thinks some of the big names playing other stages that day — including Akon and Wyclef Jean — won't detract from the Jam, but rather bring more people out to experience the music. "I think some might come for Wyclef, but once they hear the glorious sounds coming from the Roots stage they won't be able to tear themselves away."

The World Gospel Jam runs from 12 p.m. to 11 p.m. on Saturday. Today only, concertgoers can buy a $30 all-access wristband for admittance to the Jam and all the Bluesfest acts by calling 613-296-8233.

Kim Mannix Vermette has a passion for exploring the local music, theatre, visual arts and literature scenes.

Brinkley, ex strike a deal

COURTS Christie Brinkley and her estranged husband Peter Cook have reached a settlement in their divorce trial, imdb.com reports.

After eight days of high drama in a New York court, the former couple finally agreed on the terms of child custody and division of assets yesterday, following all-night talks at a Manhattan hotel.

The settlement gives Brinkley sole custody of the pair's two children — Jack, 13, and Sailor, 10 — but allows Cook "ample parenting time".

The former supermodel has also been awarded all real estate holdings, while Cook walks away with a $2.1 million pay off.

Brinkley and Cook's lawyers and their children's law guardian began talks on Wednesday evening in the hope of bringing their high-profile divorce to a close.

Over the course of the trial, testimony included revelations of Cook's affair with teenager Diana Bianchi and his alleged $3,000 monthly porn habit. METRO NEWS SERVICES

Madge A-Rod's soulmate?

ROMANCE Alex Rodriguez allegedly confessed his love for Madonna at the beginning of this year, femalefirst.co.uk reports.

The New York Yankees baseball star — whose close relationship with the singer is a factor in his recent split from wife Cynthia, her lawyers claim — told a pal he was besotted with Madonna as they had dinner at a restaurant in January, during which Alex spent most of the evening texting her.

His friend told Us Weekly magazine: "He kept smiling, acting as if he was a little kid. He told me it was Madonna he was texting. I was shocked. He proceeded to say he was in love with her. I thought he was kidding but he wasn't."

Just a few weeks after the dinner,

Alex — who has two children with estranged wife Cynthia — confirmed how much he had fallen for Madonna, telling the same friend: "She's my f***ing soulmate."

Madonna — whose own marriage to director Guy Ritchie is allegedly on the brink of collapse — has previously denied any involvement with the sportsman, insisting they are just friends.

Biel not hungry for wedding vows

FAMILY Jessica Biel says her life will be fine even if she doesn't walk down the aisle one day, usmagazine.com reports. "The actual idea of signing those papers and doing all this stuff ... I've never been someone who's like, 'I have to, have to, have to have it,' the actress, 26, says in Harper's Bazaar.

Aniston denies love letter find

RELATIONSHIP John Mayer's girlfriend Jennifer Aniston has blasted rumours that she discovered "a batch" of love letters from the rocker's ex Jessica Simpson, dismissing the claims as false, imdb.com reports. The former Friends actress, who became romantically linked to Mayer earlier this year, was said to have found the notes in the singer's guitar case, reports the New York Post's gossip column Page Six.

A source tells the publication, "Jennifer was more hurt than angry at the discovery. The letters surprisingly were very touching and well written." But Aniston's representative insists the story is "completely fabricated".

Pamela confirms reunion with ex

DIVORCED Pamela Anderson has confirmed she and ex-husband Tommy Lee are back together, insisting they make a "great package," imdb.com reports. Anderson was married to the Motley Crue rocker for three years until they split in 1998. But they have spent more and more time together recently, and Lee recently claimed his ex and their two sons had moved back in with him — and were trying to be a happy family.

Fiancé denying break with Fox

RUMOUR Brian Austin Green says everything's going great with fiancée Megan Fox, usmagazine.com reports. (London's Daily Star reported that Fox, 22, called off her engagement to the former 90210 star after realizing "she's too young to marry him.") "We're solid," Green, 34, says in the new issue of TV Guide. "We've lived together for three years. We have tattoos of each other's names."

Moore blasts Botox

SURGERY Actress Julianne Moore is baffled as to why women undergo Botox injections, because they make little difference to their appearance, imdb.com reports.

The Forgotten Star, 47, is not a fan of the face-freezing cosmetic treatment.

She says, "I don't know why women do Botox. It doesn't make them look younger, it just makes them look like they had work done.

"You are not going to look the same as you did at 25. What are you going to do about it?"

Tom sends Kidman flowers for baby

CONGRATULATIONS Tom Cruise sent Nicole Kidman "a room full of flowers" to congratulate her on the birth of her baby, femalefirst.co.uk reports. The actress delivered her first biological child on Monday and her ex-husband was one of the first to get in touch to pass on good wishes to her and husband Keith Urban.

Horoscopes*AVATAR VENUS*ARIES*MARCH 21-APRIL 20

A guilty man will admit to his transgression. Showing disrespect will be catastrophic. An unusual experiment is taking place.

TAURUS*APRIL 21-MAY 21

A friend will find it difficult to contact you. Be lenient with those who lack defenders. Don't get mad when you explain the rules.

GEMINI*MAY 22-JUNE 21

You are someone's good luck charm. Don't lose your temper at noon. A woman will complain about her weight gain.

CANCER*JUNE 22-JULY 22

A comment is misunderstood by a fool. Prepare for dramatic moments. You'll change your mind about a tight money situation.

LEO*JULY 23-AUG 23

You're even more attractive than usual. A woman is upset over details. A generous friend offers nurturing.

VIRGO*AUG 24-SEPT 22

History repeats itself. Your personality might provoke a quarrel at home. Nasty moments can be avoided by not reacting.

LIBRA*SEPT 23-OCT 23

Avoid decision-making in the morning. Let someone else make corrections. Problems with a vegetarian lead to turmoil.

SCORPIO*OCT 24-NOV 22

An answer comes in a dream. A meeting with a soul mate is possible. Laughter ends the day on a high note.

SAGITTARIUS*NOV 23-DEC 21

Bad news about the future can be ignored. Make changes in a faltering relationship. A friend will be super moody.

CAPRICORN*DEC 22-JAN 20

Keep your temper in check if you're hypersensitive. Don't waste your wit on sarcastic people. A staff romance hits the skids.

AQUARIUS*JAN 21-FEB 18

Wear down your opposition with a smile. Things start working out for the best. Emotional depths are being plumbed.

PISCES*FEB 19-MAR 20

Someone's problems will interfere with a departure. Don't tease a friend about their living conditions. Start exercising your brain more.

Sudoku*INSTRUCTIONS:

The digits 1 through 9 will appear exactly once in each row, each column, and each zone. (A zone is an outlined 3x3 grid within the larger puzzle grid. There are nine of these zones in the puzzle.) Do not enter a digit into a box if it already appears elsewhere in the same 3x3 zone, or in the same row across the puzzle, or column down the puzzle.
